When you Need More Than Just Advice

ECL's insights, backed by solid technical skills and extensive marketing research, provides a fresh, unique perspective to your company or product strategy . Our background in benchmarking, certification, and ECL Impressions Testing™ gives us both broad and deep experiences in the embedded industry and specific target markets.

Consulting is more than simply offering advice. ECL Strategic Consulting starts with listening to your vision, your mission, your goals, and your needs. But we do more than just play back what you want to hear. We ask questions, we research, we test, we analyze, we verify, we interview, and we dig deep for the Key Factors that will make or break the situation. Our methodology often yields astonishing connections that you may have never realized. Our approach does not rely on marketing research data alone - we have unique ways of surfacing the right information for a decision. Then we bring it all together for you.

Whether you wish to:

- Validate a proposed course of action
- Explore a new product idea or service
- Investigate the potential upside of expanding into a new market segment
- Discuss a new architecture or plot a course for dominating in software tools
- Spread the word about your powerful new products

ECL can get the job done on time, under budget, satisfaction guaranteed. That is why select companies in the embedded industry (vendors, customers, and investors) choose ECL's completely confidential Strategic Consulting service.

If you are a Venture Capitalist, Investment Banker, Investor, or Merger and Acquisitions Specialist, you cannot afford not to contact ECL and arrange for a no-obligation consultation about our Due Diligence service. We offer extremely cost-effective, typical investment community analysis reports.

Give ECL a call for a no-obligation consultation. Gain an unfair, sustainable competitive advantage.
